

Career Conversations

Career Conversations is an opportunity to meet a professional in a career field of interest and hear about their work and the career path that led them to that field. This is a great opportunity for Undeclared students, students in Arts & Sciences or those in specific majors to learn about a career and gain insight on how to pursue it.

RSVP Required to: careers@bryant.edu

Monday, November 9 at 2pm

Mark Murphy

Editor

Providence Business News

Join us to hear from this professional in the publishing industry talk about his career path, pro's and con's of his work, what a typical day is like for him, and what you should know about this industry if you are considering it for your future.

All Students Welcome!

Career Conversations takes place in the Amica Center for Career Education.

